UNPLUGGED AT THE EDEN PROJECT

Take part in a World Premiere

Create and perform the largest musical work ever to be staged at the Eden Project, written and directed by acclaimed composer Tim Sutton.

Performed across the whole width of the Eden crater by singers, brass and percussion, Unplugged will build a third Biome with sound.

The music will draw on Cornwall's folk traditions and the history of the region's mining industry. It will speak powerfully of our connection to the environment.

It will be a zero-carbon performance of about half an hour, taking place in daylight hours and using no electro amplification.

Please see overleaf for further information.

closing date: tuesday 15th march

Unplugged forms part of Eden's Climate Change Arts Programme, developed in partnership with Cape Farewell. For more info on the collaboration search for the 'Cape Farewell' on www.edenproject.com
